FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1897

NEVERTHELESS and notwithstanding, the John Wamamaker notion is taking root in various localities.

If the lynching party continues to grow it may feel like placing a Presidential ticket in the field in 1900.

Boston has the first horseless fire engine. Later on Boston may take on a sneerless opinion of the balance of the universe.

When it comes to lumber even alleged free-trade Senators could not tell a lie, but admitted they had their little tariff axe to grind.

DISPLACING the steed in every instance, the man formerly spoken of as being on his high horse is now said to be geared too high.

SPECIAL Commissioner Calhoun stands ready to indorse that idea of an overproduction of newspaper reporters.

It appears just now the Powers have got the ear of Turkey and are trying to hold it for a further hearing.

It appears that the only way Foraker and Hanna can convince each other that they are on the square is to keep constantly in each others company.

Nobody cares how quickly the Senate turns over the leaves of this new tariff story, if only Columbia and Prosperity are wedded at the end.

Had some people their way, not only would our forests be entirely disregarded, but no respect would be shown even to our oldest family trees.

WITH four million bottles of champagne on tap at the jubilee the head that wears a crown may be the only one that doesn't lie uneasy.

GEN. MILES is so highly pleased with the treatment he is receiving abroad that it may become necessary to charter an entire steamer to bring him home.

When in hot weather men in hats begin to draw comfort through a straw, it's a reminder of kindred things that sometimes go to the head.

Much rejoicing was occasioned among the Cuban patriots over the news that the Steamer Danatless had successfully landed in Cuba with a very large consignment of guns, ammunition, dynamite and medical supplies. It is believed that unless the President interferes on behalf of Cuban independence soon, that the Cuban patriots will have solved the problem by clearing the island of all Spanish soldiery and win their own independence.

Of the title recently conferred on Ex-President Cleveland as Doctor of Laws, the Examiner says: "Now Cleveland is a doctor of laws, whether any college so declares or not. He is justly celebrated for the manner in which he can perform operations on the statutes. He can make them as tender as a salt fish, if he wants them that way, or he can paralyze a portion of a statute and stimulate the rest to activity as if with a galvanic battery. He can lop off what he doesn't like, never saying 'thy leave.' Occasionally he calls others into consultation, but they learn wisdom of him and go their way marveling much.

"Cleveland is a doctor of laws all right enough, an actual surgeon of 'em, and the handiest man who ever got into the dissecting room."

THE GAUGE OF BATTLE.

The Silver Knight says: "The line of battle between the friends of labor and production against the parasites, extortionists, and absorbers of wealth is formed for 1898 and 1900. The candidate of the people is already nominated by unanimous consent, and his name is William J. Bryan. The platform upon which the battle will be fought was promulgated at Chicago in the convention of 1896. The advocates of the coinage of silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 by the United States, independent of all other countries, were compelled in the last campaign to organize the regenerated Democracy, the Populists, and the free silver Republicans, in the face of a well organized army commanded by veteran corruptionists and supplied by the money of two continents. The organization of the people under such circumstances seemed impossible. But they did organize, and they gave battle in the open field, while the enemy with all its wealth and power was compelled to abandon legitimate political warfare and resort to bribery, corruption, and intimidation.

The advantages of perfect organization, of unlimited money, corruption and fraud, placed William McKinley in the White House by a majority which would have been overcome by a chance of 25,000 votes in the proper states. The impoverished army of the people polled about six and a half million of votes, which included a vast majority of the native born citizens of the United States, and was only overcome by the colored vote and foreign vote congregated in cities and controlled by capital. The enemy promised prosperity, with intent to deceive, because every intelligent man knew that nothing short of more money by the restoration of silver could relieve the country from the miseries of gold standard contraction. The Republican party prospered on the very day McKinley was elected. They said his election would bring confidence and confidence would bring prosperity. Neither confidence nor prosperity came. Both have been postponed at the instance of the leaders of Republican party from time to time, and still the day or rather is more remote than when the Republicans gained power.

The intolerable miseries of the people, the false promises, and the utter inability of the Republican party to give the country prosperity by anything that the gold syndicate of Wall and Lombard streets will allow them to do, is causing universal distress. The Republican party is now a sinking ship. The desertions from it daily are strikingly numerous. Recruits are coming by the thousands to the standard of the party of the people. The Republican leaders see the hand-writing on the wall, but their gold masters will not give them permission to retreat. They must march on against the people and inflict new wounds, however dangerous it may be. They see that Bryan and the Chicago platform are sweeping the country; that there is no division in the ranks of the reform movement; that the middle-of-the-road contingent which Hanna or other Republican bosses can control is too trifling to mention and that the solid phalanx of American voters is moving forward to victory, and they are helpless to stay the tide. The appointment of Gage, Roberts, and Jordan to the responsible posts in the Treasury Department shows the tight grasp in which the inner circle of the money power of Wall and Lombard streets hold the Republican party. The pretense that the Republican administration is in favor of international bimetalism is refuted by these appointments. All that is left for the Republican party is to make hay while the sun shines and rival the wealth and prosperity of the devotees of the stuffed prophet from Buffalo.

Editors, as a rule, are kind-hearted and liberal. An exchange tells of a subscriber to a certain paper who died and left fourteen years' subscription unpaid. The editor appeared at the grave as the lid was being screwed down for the last time, and put in a linen duster, a thermometer, a palm leaf fan, and a receipt for making ice.

A shower of bombs in Paris is reminiscent of a reign of terror.

RAILWAY POOLS.

There are pending two bills in the Senate of the United States for the regulation of railways; one the Foraker bill. The Foraker bill is one which has been approved and adopted by the railway lobbyists and one which they very much desire to see become a law. The Harris bill does not meet with their approbation for the reason that it was written in the interest of the whole people, instead of that class of our fellow citizens who own and control railways. If the railways can obtain the right to legally establish pools as provided in the Foraker bill whereby they can fix their earnings for the carrying of freight and passengers in accordance with their desires, and prevent competition and then divide the proceeds with each other, their opportunities for making money will only be curtailed by the rapacity of the railway managers.

It would be like throwing a lamb to a wolf, and the people will have no more show of obtaining an honest deal than would the lamb, clemency, from the ravenous beast.

If the railways can succeed in doing this, and with their present system of giving passes to the leading little political claquers throughout the country, they will be in the saddle, booted and spurred and will ride honest endeavor to its destruction.

Papers should wake up to this great danger which is now threatening the industrial interests of the country; fight the deadly pool; demand of their members of Congress and Senators that they stand by the rights of the people by whom they were elected, and for whom they are expected to work. Unless this is done railway influences will corrupt enough of the people's representatives to pass the dastardly pool bill.

"The printed eulogies of Arizona by Hon. Whitelaw Reid have given our Territory a great boom," said Col Lee Crandall "but had Mr. Reid visited the town of Globe, which is my home, he could have waxed even more enthusiastic in his descriptions.

"It is situated in the best mining district of the Southwest, and has also a fine stock country contiguous. The climate averages better at Globe the year round than anywhere else in the United States. One can stand on Broad street in front of the courthouse at Globe during December, January, February, and March in the bright, warm sunshine and looking twelve miles east the Pinal Mountains covered with snow; looking sixty miles northwest and the snow-capped Sierra Anches can be discerned. To view these in the clear moonlight is one of the prettiest spectacles on earth. Arizona is rich in scenic beauty, but to the more practical searcher after wealth I would say that it offers inducements as great as can be found on this continent, and sober, industrious home-seekers who have also a little ready money, can make no mistake by coming our way and locating permanently."

It is wonderful to see the effect the mentioning of the removal of the county seat has on the digestive organs of the Bulletin. Its better than a powerful dose of physic. It wakes the old "hoss" up and causes it to snort and paw up the earth worse than a mad bull in a Mexican bull fight. In its next issue it will probably declare that the Solomonville jail is the best in the Territory and accuse all the officers in charge of the jail at the time of Chacon's escape of being off on a drunk, and declare that ten men worked incessantly for three weeks to make the hole through the jail walls which permitted Chacon's escape. When a person gets into his dotage before his time it hard to tell what breaks he will make.

KANSAS had an experience last week which was more destructive than being under the control of the Populist party. She was visited by a terrific cyclone and hail storm, which destroyed both life and prosperity. Some hail stones tell weighing from twelve to fourteen ounces.

EDITORIAL BONBONS.

Ben Tillman and John Sullivan are in a bad fix. They can't get anybody to accept their challenges. —Atlanta Journal.

If the reeling off of maxims would cure the hard times Mr. McKim would soon make of the country a perfect hotbed of prosperity. —Atlanta Constitution.

A scientist declares that "light can be made from sugar." Certainly; if you buy sugar certificates just right you will have no trouble about paying for all the gas you use. —Chicago Times-Herald.

Mark Hanna will find the task of keeping Senators from talking far more difficult than a job of like character he successfully carried through last fall. He had only one man to manage then. —Cincinnati Post.

The farmers should not stop with a demand for a bounty on agricultural exports. They should demand a bounty on everything they raise. Let everybody be taxed for the benefit of everybody else, and we will all get rich together! —Indianapolis News.

Every little while someone gets up when he thinks Speaker Reed isn't loaded and finds he has made a mistake. He is a magazine man. —Chicago Post.

The greatest statesman of his time will be he who is able to frame a tariff bill which doesn't require an expert to explain its provisions. —Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

In the name of humanity we protest against the universal disposition to kick the press agents of McKinley prosperity. They have suffered enough. —St. Louis Republic.

Tom Reed says that it is the administration which is to blame for the do-nothing policy; that he is but carrying out the wishes of McKinley in holding down legislation. Reed is probably carrying out the wishes of Reed in desiring to see McKinley killed off by that means. —Minneapolis Post.

As a sort of offset to Constantinople as an old-time spelling test, the Sultan in answer to the powers' threats about Thessaly seems inclined to ask them to spell "able." —Philadelphia Times.

Spain is anxious to know what the United States are going to do. The same anxiety prevails over here. —Detroit Free Press.

Protected cotton is indeed an anomaly. But why shouldn't the Southern planters have some of the chicken pie? —Denver Times.

With several millionaires after that Senatorial seat, membership in the Ohio Legislature will be forced to a premium. —New York Journal.

How it does bring out the grindstone and axe idea that the tariff enthusiasts assert the turning point will come for the people when it is a law. —Philadelphia Times.

The Dragon.

From the Dragon mountains comes the report of several new strikes in the numerous mines now in process of development in that district, among which are the Black Diamond group now under bond to the company now operating the famous copper mines of Bisbee. While the surface indications and the work done prior to the bonding of this property, gave greatly flattering prospects, yet the later work done has shown that the most sanguine expectations of the localities were in no wise exaggerated.

As depth is attained the size of the ore bodies increase and the assays show increased richness.

The character of the ore in the bottom is reported rich sulphide of copper carrying also gold and silver in quantities almost sufficient to pay the expenses of extraction and reduction.

This is destined to be another one of the great wealth producers of Cochise county. —Prospector.
